LG for provisions in MPD 2041 that prevent new slum clusters from coming up: Official

Sidhartha.Roy@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: LG V K Saxena will review the draft of the Master Plan for Delhi 2041 once again. "The LG raised points that basically address the issue of ensuring non-proliferation of slums in Delhi," said an official who didn't wish to be identified. "He also wants that the MPD 2041 should have specific provisions ensuring full integration of unauthorised colonies in the national capital," said the official.

Sources said the LG primarily wants to ensure that not only should the MPD 2041 include provisions that don't lead to a situation in which new slum clusters crop up in the city it should also give unauthorised colonies access to all necessary amenities.

The presentation was made to elicit the LG's views on different aspects of the draft MPD 2041. After a go-ahead from the LG, the draft was to be placed before the authority at a meeting. Once the authority approved it, the MPD 2041 would have been forwarded to the Centre (ministry of housing and urban affairs) for its approval and notification in the Gazette of India. "The LG is also particular that the Unified Building Bye-Laws (UHBLs) should specifically ensure garbage management and dual piping systems," said the source.

It was in April this year that a DDA advisory council, headed by the then LG, Anil Baijal, had reviewed the draft MPD 2041, which incorporates approximately 35,000 objections and suggestions from the public.

The council, which had reviewed the suggestions and objections received by DDA consisted of elected representatives from Rupya Sabha and Lok Sabha, municipal councillors, officials from the Centre and experts from the field of urban development and planning, said an official.

In the draft MPD put in the public domain in June last year, DDA had envisaged a "future-ready" capital that would be a "24-hour city" with an active nightlife apart from focusing on economic environment and affordable housing.

It also envisaged the private sector leading the housing supply scenario through development and redevelopment in the next 20 years. The land development agency would take the back seat and play the role of a 'facilitator', ensuring ease of doing business while maintaining a regulatory environment, according to the draft.

First bamboo park to come up along Yamuna riverfront

Baansera: A new bamboo park

The Delhi Development Authority will develop the Capital's first bamboo theme park on the Yamuna riverfront as part of the ongoing rejuvenation project.

- The park will be spread over 90 hectares on the Yamuna's eastern bank near the Delhi-Meerut Expressway.
- DDA will plant 20,000 bamboo saplings of 15 varieties this monsoon season.
- The area has been categorised into two parts: a recreational area, primarily the greenway zone, and a bamboo plantation along with other evergreen plantations.
- Apart from plantations, the park will have amenities designed to bamboo, including blocks, huts, a watchtower and seats for public use in the greenway areas along kucha paths.
- A bamboo cafe is also proposed along with seating facilities under bamboo trees.
- Large spaces for people to congregate have been designed with the bamboo plantation's catchment underlines.

NEW DELHI

Delhi Lieutenant governor (LG) Vinit Kumar Razdan on Tuesday laid the foundation for the development of the Capital's first bamboo theme park on the Yamuna riverfront as part of the river's ongoing rejuvenation project.

The park will be spread over 10 hectares on the eastern bank near the Delhi-Meerut Expressway, and the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) will plant 20,000 bamboo saplings of 15 varieties this monsoon season, officials in the know said.

Speaking at the event, LG Razdan said, "The entire area has been categorised into two parts—a bamboo recreational area, primarily in the greenway zone, and a bamboo plantation along with other 'bamboo plantations'. Baansera will consist of different varieties of the bamboo plant, especially procured for this area. The park will also have amenities designed in bamboo, which is an environment-friendly material, including kiosks, huts, a watchtower and seats for picnickers in the greenway areas along kucha paths."

East Delhi MP Gaurav

Gandhar, Bharatiya Janata Party MLA and DDA member Vijender Gupta and DP Sharma, Delhi chief secretary Naresh Kumar and DDA vice-chairman Manish Kumar Gupta were present at the event.

The LG said that the plantation of bamboo on a large scale will help address the Capital's air pollution problem significantly because bamboo produces about 50% more oxygen even as it consumes far less water and enriches the soil.

In June this year, the LG had directed the DDA to start work on this park. DDA officials said that currently 10 hectares of area are being developed, but more area will be developed later.

"In July, 20,000 seedlings of 15 varieties of bamboo were procured from Assam and a survey set up so that the saplings are adopted in the climate conditions of Delhi in time for planting this monsoon season," a DDA official said.

The LG had also instructed the DDA that a depression on the bank—spread over 2.5 hectares—is to be dredged into a water body, which is now ready.

A bamboo cafe is also proposed. Large spaces for canopies have been designed with live bamboo plants forming a enclosed enclosure," the LG said.

The Delhi LG also spoke about bamboo as a source for various economic activities such as furniture-making, incense sticks etc. that can help create employment opportunities and augment incomes in Delhi.

However, ecologists say the bamboo plantation will serve no ecological purpose on the floodplains of the Yamuna.

Vivek Dhamrait, an ecologist who is also the curator of the Aravalli Biodiversity Park in Gurugram, said bamboo is not native to Delhi and while it can be grown in some parts of Delhi, it will serve no ecological purpose.

"The floodplains should be left alone to carry out their natural process of regulating the flow of the river during the rainy months, and even if plantation has to be done near the floodplains, they should be species native to the Yamuna. We can find bamboo in Delhi in places like Sunder Nursery for instance, but they serve no ecological purpose, especially on the floodplains," he said.

LIQUOR POLICY ROW

Delhi govt says former L-G 'diverting from actual issue'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 9

FORMER LIEUTENANT Governor (L-G) of Delhi Anil Baijal Tuesday said the allegations levelled against him by Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia, in connection with the new liquor policy, were "baseless" and "motivated", and called him a "desperate man saving his own skin by perpetrating allegations against others".

Last week, Sisodia, who also holds the excise portfolio, said he had written to the CBI requesting a probe into what he claimed was a sudden change in former L-G Baijal's decision on opening vends in unauthorised areas. This caused "thousands of crores of losses" to the Delhi government, he alleged. He had also claimed the change in decision came "48 hours before implementation of the policy on ground" (on November 17, 2021).

Stating that facts are now in the public domain, Baijal said, "In the matter of not allowing liquor vends in non-conforming areas, (I) discharged my constitutional responsibility of upholding the laws of the land. No law in Delhi, even today, allows for opening of liquor vends in non-conforming areas."

Baijal added: "Raising doubts and levelling allegations against the L-G's decisions has been a norm ever since the AAP has formed the government in Delhi. The allegations now made by Manish Sisodia are baseless and motivated against me. They are nothing but blatant lies and falsehoods being perpetrated by a desperate man to save his own skin." He added that the Deputy CM is trying to find some alibi for "his and his colleagues' acts of commission and omissions".

Baijal said the AAP government and its excise minister appeared to have "initially claimed record revenue through excise by manipulating figures; but when that got utterly exposed, they are now playing this deplorable game of blaming me by distorting facts and painting a false narrative".

The ex-L-G added that he flagged "unlawful" decisions taken by the AAP government on several occasions during the implementation of the new excise policy. "In view of the multiple cases which came to be filed during that period and their pendency in courts, and further in view of various observations made therein, I had decided to set up a committee under chairmanship of VC-DLM with divisional commissioner, excise commissioner, commissioners of DMC's, secretary (IT) and representative of National Institute of Urban Affairs, MoHUA, as its members to examine setting up of liquor vends in non-conforming areas," said Baijal.

Baijal added: "Raising doubts and levelling allegations against the L-G's decisions has been a norm ever since the AAP has formed the government in Delhi. The allegations now made by Manish Sisodia are baseless and motivated against me. They are nothing but blatant lies and falsehoods being perpetrated by

He said the committee on December 10 submitted its report and decided that with regard to 67 non-conforming wards, the excise department can consider allowing the licensee of such wards to open additional vends in conforming areas of such adjoining wards where conforming areas exist or any other ward allotted to the licensee. "Accordingly, no permission was granted for opening liquor vends in non-conforming areas," said the former L-G.

Responding to Baijal's statement, the Delhi government said: "Instead of diverting from the actual issue, the ex-L-G needs to answer what made him change his stand just 48 hours before opening of shops? Why did he deliberately cause so much loss to the government and give undue favours to selected licensees? Who forced him to take a stand against the policy passed by the cabinet and L-G himself?"

Baijal further said he has upheld constitutional values and laws of the land, in letter and spirit, during his entire tenure; "The record will speak for itself; I dismiss the claims made by the government and its excise minister in toto. Time and investigation will reveal the truth. As a public functionary, I have always worked with the highest degree of moral values and ethics."

Sisodia had announced on July 30 that the new excise policy would be rolled back. This came after current L-G VK Saxena recommended a CBI probe into the new policy over alleged irregularities, and Delhi Police's EOW launched a probe into the excise department.

L-G lays foundation stone of Delhi's first bamboo park

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 9

L-G VK Saxena laid the foundation stone of 'Baansera', the city's first multi-purpose bamboo-themed park. The park will have several amenities like conference spaces, watchtower kiosks, huts, and seats for public use in a greenway area, with bamboo-curtained enclosures, said a senior DDA official. "The project has been started to enhance ecological character of the Yamuna floodplains and make it more people-friendly by making it attractive as a recreational and cultural venue," the official said.

Ten hectares of the floodplain, south of NH-24 on the western bank, is being developed for the park. More than 25,000 special varieties of bamboo saplings, brought from Assam, will be planted. The official said it is aimed at achieving the purpose of augmenting public spaces in the national capital on one hand, and also at ensuring that the rich biodiversity of the floodplain is preserved and maintained, he said.

Saxena said planting bamboo on a large scale will help address the city's problem of air pollution significantly. "Bamboo produces about 30% more oxygen even as it consumes far less water and enriches the soil," he said.

Bamboo groves at the periphery will also help contain pollution caused by seasonal dust storms. Bamboo as a source for various economic activities will also help create employment opportunities and augment income, he said.

Baijal Refutes Allegations Of 'U-Turn' On Excise Policy

LG Saxena, Too, Objects To 'Misleading, Motivated Charges'

Atul.Mathur@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: The blame game between the lieutenant governor's office and the elected state government over the new excise policy intensified on Tuesday after former LG Anil Baijal accused deputy chief minister Manish Sisodia of "perpetrating blatant lies and falsehoods" to save his own skin.

Addressing a press conference last Saturday, Sisodia had alleged that despite reading the Delhi Excise Policy 2021-22 twice before giving it the go-ahead in May 2021, Baijal, the then LG, had had a U-turn and made it mandatory for the liquor licensees to obtain a no-objection certificate from Delhi Development Authority and Municipal Corporation of Delhi to operate in non-conforming areas just two days before the shops were to open on November 17 last year.

Sisodia had claimed that Baijal's decision resulted in a loss of thousands of rupees to the state exchequer as the licensees couldn't open shops in non-conforming areas in 67 municipal wards.

Refuting this in a statement on Tuesday, Baijal accused Sisodia of trying to find alibis for the AAP government's acts of "commission and omissions". He said, "These are not hing but blatant lies and falsehoods being perpetrated by a desperate man to save his own skin. Mr. Sisodia is trying to find some alibi for his and his colleague's acts of commission and omissions."

Incumbent LG, VK Saxena, also defended Baijal and expressed his "grave objection to deliberately misleading, baseless and motivated allegations" made against the former LG. Raj Niwas tweeted, "Shri Saxena has advised the chief minister to ensure that his colleagues in the government and party refrain from such petty behaviour and statements."

Baijal's statement said, "In the matter of not allowing liquor vends in non-conforming areas, I discharged my constitutional responsibility of upholding the laws of the land. No law in Delhi, even today, allows for opening of liquor vends in non-conforming areas."

Responding to Baijal's statement, the AAP government retorted that the former LG was digressing from the issue and should explain what made him change his stand just 48 hours before opening of the shops. "Why did he deliberately cause so much loss to the government and why did he give undue favours to selected licensees? Who forced him to take a stand against the policy passed by the cabinet and the LG himself?" the Delhi government asked.

Baijal, meanwhile, said raising doubts and levelling allegations against the LG's decisions has been a norm since AAP formed the government in Delhi. "During the implementation of the new Delhi Excise Policy, I had flagged, on several occasions, the unlawful decisions taken by the AAP government which had to be amended on files. These facts are now in public domain," the former LG said.

He added that a committee led by the DDA vice-chairman, with the divisional commissioner, excise commissioner, MCD commissioners, IT secretary and a representative of the National Institute of Urban Affairs as its member, was formed to examine the setting up of liquor vends in non-conforming areas. The panel suggested that the excise department could allow the licensees to open additional vends in conforming areas of adjoining wards allotted to them. Accordingly, no permission was granted for opening liquor vends in non-conforming areas, Baijal said.

"It appears that the AAP government and its excise minister initially claimed record revenue through excise by manipulating figures; but when that got exposed, they are now playing this deplorable game of blaming me by distorting facts and painting a false narrative," claimed Baijal.

The former LG added that during his entire tenure he "upheld the constitutional values" and laws of the land, which was an issue with AAP government. "I dismiss the claims made by the government and its excise minister in toto. Time and investigations will reveal the truth," Baijal said.

NEW DELHI: The Delhi government has appointed Ajitendra Agrawal, 1997 batch DANCS (Delhi and Andaman and Nicobar Island Civil Services) officer, as deputy commissioner in the excise department in place of Anand Kumar Tiwari who was suspended by the Lieutenant Governor (LG) Vinod Kumar Saxena on July 5 for serious lapses in the implementation of the excise policy. The LG also approved initiation of major disciplinary proceedings against him besides 10 other officials of the department in view of the lapses.

Agarwal was previously director (archives), and held additional charges of director (archaeology).

On July 22, LG Saxena recommended a CBI investigation into alleged irregularities in the implementation of the Delhi government's excise policy 2021-22 on the basis of a report submitted to him by chief secretary, which contended that several procedures were tweaked in order to benefit private liquor barons and individuals.

The move led a new confrontation between the Aam Aadmi Party government and the LG. Chief minister Arvind Kejriwal claimed that the entire case

City's first bamboo theme park to come up on Yamuna floodplain

Over 25,000 special varieties of bamboo saplings to be planted

STAFF REPORTER
NEW DELHI

Lieutenant-Governor V.K. Saxena on Tuesday laid the foundation stone for the city's first bamboo theme park titled "Baansera" on the Yamuna floodplain.

The Delhi Development Authority, in a press note, stated that over 25,000 special varieties of bamboo saplings that have been procured from Assam will be planted at the park. It is aimed at augmenting the "much-needed public spaces" in the Capital and to ensure that "the rich biodiversity of the floodplain is preserved and maintained".

Spread across 10 hectares of floodplain, south of NH-24, the theme park will also see amenities designed using bamboo, including kiosks, huts, a watchtower and seats for public use in the greenway area.

A sustainable future

However, the All India Central Council of Trade Unions (AICTU) Delhi's unit has called for a protest on Wednesday stating that slum dwellers were removed from the stretch where the project is set to be executed.

L-G lays foundation stone of Delhi's first bamboo theme park

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: Delhi Lt Governor V.K. Saxena on Tuesday laid the foundation stone of the "city's first bamboo theme park" aiming to enhance the ecological character of Yamuna floodplains and to make it attractive as a recreational and cultural venue, officials said.

More than 25,000 special variety of bamboo saplings, brought from Assam will be planted here. It will achieve the purpose of augmenting the much-needed public spaces in the capital on one hand, and also ensure that the rich biodiversity of the flood plain is preserved and maintained, the DDA said in a statement.

"The city's first of its kind initiative has been named 'Baansera' as derived from the Hindi word 'Baansera' meaning shade.

The floodplain and riverbed have often been "subjected to encroachments and unauthorised construction", resulting in "grave assault" on the very existence of Yamuna as a river, it said.

The Lt Governor said plantation of bamboos on a large scale will help address the capital's problem of air pollution significantly. Bamboo produces about 30 per cent more oxygen even as it consumes far less water and enriches the soil, he added.

Apart from adding to oxygen to the city's atmosphere, Bamboo groves at the periphery will also help contain pollution caused by seasonal dust storms. In addition to this, bamboo as a source for various economic activities like furniture making, incense sticks etc., will help create employment opportunities and augment incomes in Delhi, he said. "DDA's well-known project of restoration and rejuvenation of the floodplains of River Yamuna is being carried out as an initiative to enhance the ecological character of the floodplains and to make them accessible to the public at large. This project is being taken to a next level under the ambitious 'Baansera' project, conceived and guided by the Lt Governor himself," the DDA said.

An area of 10 hectare of the floodplain, south of NH-24 on the western banks is being developed as a theme-based multipurpose area using bamboo as a material in biotic and abiotic form.

While identifying the site in June this year, the Lt Governor had instructed for having a 2.5 ha area of depression over there, to be developed into a live water body. Works for the same have been completed and the water body will be a part of 'Baansera', it said.

"The entire area has been categorised into two parts: bamboo recreation primarily in the greenway zone and bamboo plantation along with other riverine plantations," Saxena said.

Lok Sabha MP Gautam Gambhir, Delhi Chief Secretary Naresh Kumar and Vice Chairman of DDA Manish Kumar Gupta, were also present on the occasion.

Excise Dept gets new Deputy Commissioner

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Excise Department, which is gearing up to revert to the old Excise Policy and sell liquor through vending units by four Delhi Government agencies from next month, has got a new Deputy Commissioner, Jitendra Agrawal, a 1997-batch DANICS officer, a Delhi Government order said. Of the two posts of Deputy Commissioners in the department, one was vacant owing to a transfer, while the Lieutenant Governor (L-G) had approved the suspension of the other Deputy Commissioner AK Tiwari along with 10 other officials over allegations of "serious lapses" in execution of the 2021-22 policy.

Agrawal was posted as Director (Archives), and has also held additional charges of Director (Archaeology) besides some other positions.

Further, the two Delhi Government undertakings — the Tourism and Transportation Development Corporation (TTTDC), and Delhi Consumers Cooperative Wholesale Store (DCCWS) — that will open liquor stores from September 1, have also got new heads.

Geevika Sharma, a 2012-batch IAS officer, currently serving as Deputy Commissioner Northeast district, has been given additional charge of General Manager of the TTTDC.

She will replace Pravesh Ranjan Jha, a DANICS officer, who has been appointed as Additional Secretary to Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal.

Vikas Ahlawat, who was posted as Deputy Director in the DDA, has been appointed as the General Manager of DCCWS.

Baansera: Delhi to get its 1st bamboo-themed park

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

An area of 10 hectares of the Yamuna river floodplain, south of NH-24 on the western banks is being developed as a theme-based multipurpose area using bamboo as a material in biotic and abiotic form. Delhi Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena, on Tuesday laid the foundation of 'Baansera', the city's first bamboo-themed park, and dedicated it to the people of the national Capital. A bamboo cafe is also proposed along with seating under bamboo trees. Large spaces for congregation have been designed with live bamboo plants forming a curtain enclosure.

The city's first-of-its-kind initiative has been named Baansera as derived from the Hindi word "basera" meaning "abode".

The park will have more than 25,000 special variety of Bamboo saplings, brought from Assam. These will be planted to achieve the purpose of augmenting the much-needed public spaces in the Capital and also ensure that the rich biodiversity of the floodplain is preserved and maintained.

According to a senior Delhi Development Authority (DDA) official, on the occasion, the L-G said that plantation of Bamboo on a large scale will help address the Capital's problem of air pollution significantly as the Bamboo plant produces about 30 per cent more Oxygen even as it consumes far less water and enriches the soil.

"While identifying the site in June this year, the L-G had instructed for a 2.5 hectare depression over there, to be developed into a live water body. Works for the same has been completed and the water body will be a part of Baansera," he stated.

Elaborating about the project, L-G Saxena informed that "the entire area has been categorised into two parts: Bamboo recreation primarily in the greenway zone and Bamboo plantation along with other riverine plantations."

"Baansera" will have a unique experience in terms of plantation of different varieties of bamboo plants especially procured for this area. Apart from plantations, the park will have amenities designed in Bamboo including kiosks, huts, watchtowers and seats for public use in greenway area along kachaa paths," official said.

"The Bamboo recreation area in the greenway zone comprises of an Arrival zone & transitional area that acts as a journey from the city's busy life into the pristine river floodplains with an experiential walk amongst plantations that takes you into gathering spaces," he informed.

On the occasion several senior dignitaries including Member of Parliament, Gomat Gambhir, Chief Secretary Delhi, Naresh Kumar, and Vice-Chairman of the DDA, Manish Kumar Gupta were present.

Yamuna floodplain land not available for compensatory afforestation now: DDA

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Development Authority (DDA) has written to the city Forest Department, informing it that land in the Yamuna floodplain is no longer available for compensatory afforestation and plantation.

The Forest Department had earlier told the DDA that land in the Yamuna floodplains is required for a central Government project to "rejuvenate the Delhi stretch of the river through forestry intervention".

The Union Environment Ministry had in March released the detailed project reports (DPRs) for the reforestation of 13 marshy/forested areas.

The forest department had said it conducted a detailed analysis on the direction of the Delhi Chief Secretary and found that land measuring around 3,000 hectares is available in the Yamuna floodplains.

The DDA replied that the Forest Department's assessment of land availability in the river floodplains was "based on facts". The agency said there is just 1,267 hectares of land available for development in the Yamuna floodplains from the Noida barrage to the Okhla barrage.

The DDA replied that the Forest Department's assessment of land availability in the river floodplains was "based on facts". The agency said there is just 1,267 hectares of land available for development in the Yamuna floodplains from the Noida barrage to the Okhla barrage.

"In view of the aforementioned facts, land in Yamuna

Or 3,000 ha has already been given for compensatory afforestation and plantation for different projects, while 280 hectares is 'under dispute' and the demarcation process is going on."

The remaining 880 hectares of land has been pledged for the plantation of native grasses on the river banks as mandated by the National Green Tribunal's direction for public use development of floodplains areas to catch floodwaters, eco-friendly kachcha pathways and public amenities and ecological plantation of native species, it said.

"In view of the aforementioned facts, land in Yamuna

Floodplain in Delhi extend 66 kilometers upstream to the north, and 50 km to the south. Who owns it? It is not DDA, the official said.

According to Forest Department officials, DDA's goal can be increased from 21 per cent of land to 25 per cent if it enforces 7,000 hectares in its river floodplains.

The DDA has again requested the Forest Department to revise the compensation plantation scheme guidelines, allowing more than the number of saplings to be planted every hectare from Wazirabad barrage to Okhla barrage, but the other issues under the Forest Conservation Act, compensatory afforestation is to be done on suitable non-forest land, especially the swampy floodplains, the agency said.

A senior DDA official said under the Kejriwal 2.0 of Delhi, it was decided to set aside 15 per cent of farms for recreational bird use under which parks, playgrounds, forests are situated.

Against the 15 per cent area identified for recreation areas in the total forest and tree cover in the Capital is now over 25 per cent, according to the latest State of Forest Report," the official said.

Stop Mins from slandering Baijal, LG asks Kejriwal

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Expressing "grave objection" over "deliberately misleading" and "baseless" allegations levelled by Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia against former Lieutenant Governor Arvind Kejriwal and the ex-cm, Delhi Lieutenant Governor VK Singh, on Tuesday, advised Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal to ensure his colleagues refrain from such "petty behaviour".

Earlier on Tuesday, Baijal rejected as "baseless and mindless" charges levelled against him by Sisodia and said it was an attempt by a "desperate man to save his own skin".

LG VK Singh, having read the clear & categorical statement issued by former LG and Baijal, expressed grave objection to the deliberately misleading, baseless & invalid allegations made by Sisodia & other AAP leaders against Shri Baijal over last few days," the Raj News quoted.

Sisodia has advised Kejriwal to ensure that his colleagues in the Government and party refrain from such petty behaviour and statements," it said.

"They are nothing but Bharatiya Jan Sangh being perpetrated by a desperate man to save his own skin. Sisodia is trying to find some alibi, and his colleague's acts of omission and negligence. During the implementation of the new Delhi Forest Policy, on several occasions, I had flagged the unlawful decisions taken by the AAP Government which had to be amended on file. These cases are now in the public domain," the statement said.

Responding to Baijal's statement, the AAP said that instead of shouting from the stand, he should seek to know what made him change his stand just 48 hours before opening of the session? "Why did he deliberately choose so much less in the Government and gave undue favours to selected licensees? What forced him to take a stand against the policy passed by the cabinet and ICJ himself?" the AAP said.

Making his stand clear, Baijal said, "In the name of not allowing liquor vending in non-conforming areas, I discharged my constitutional responsibility of upholding the law of the land. No law in Delhi, even today allows for the opening of Liquor Vends in non-conforming areas."

"In view of the multiple cases which came to be filed during that period and their pending in court and further, in view of various observations made therein, I had decided to set up a committee under the chairmanship of VC DDA with diverse commissioners like commissioners, commissioners of IMCs, secretary (IT) and representative of National Institute of Urban Affairs, MoHUA as its members to
